Packing Essentials

CLOTHING

On-campus dress is fairly casual. Most students attend classes and campus events in jeans and T-shirts. Women may want to bring modest attire (skirts or dresses that cover the shoulders and knees) for visits to religious sites in Israel. Both women and men should plan to bring semi-formal attire for professional meetings and networking, special occasions and nights out.

Most of the year is warm or even hot. During the hot summer months, the traditional casual dress code becomes even more relaxed. If you are sensitive to air conditioning, make sure to pack a few sweaters or a shawl. In the winter, warm clothing is necessary, as many buildings are neither centrally heated nor well insulated.

COSMETICS AND TOILETRIES

Cosmetics, toiletries, and other personal supplies are readily found in Israel, although they might be more expensive than in your hometown, and specific brands are not always available.

MEDICATION

If you are taking prescription medication, you should bring a supply to last the entire time you are in Israel. It is also recommended that you bring a printed prescription in case it needs to be refilled. Since not all medicines in Israel are available under the same brand names as in your home country, it is essential that the generic name is provided for reference by a local doctor or pharmacy. Medication purchased over-the-counter in your home country may not be available over-the-counter in Israel.

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES

The electric current in Israel is 220 volts, C, single phase, 50 Hertz, the same as in Europe. Most Israeli sockets are three-pronged but most accept European two-pronged plugs. If your appliance does not work on 220 volts, you will need an adaptor. Some appliances cannot be converted. Be sure to check with an authorized electronics dealer for detailed information. Students are responsible for bringing or purchasing their own electrical adaptors.

Health Insurance

Click here for information on Health Insurance.

Required documents: Health Declaration Form.

PERSONAL HEALTH INSURANCE

TAU suggests that students consider carrying private comprehensive health insurance. In the event that a medical need arises that is excluded by the policy, such as a pre-existing condition or prescriptions, your insurance may enable you to recover those costs. Please make sure that you have insurance coverage that is effective throughout Israel if you plan on being in the country before the program begins.

HEALTH TIPS

It is extremely hot during the summer, so it is important to prevent dehydration and heat-related illnesses. It is advised to use sun protection. You may want to bring sunscreen, since certain brands may not be available in Israel or may be significantly more expensive. It is important to stay well hydrated.

If you are taking prescription medication, you should bring a supply to last the entire time you are in Israel. See Packing Essentials - Medication.

Life in Tel Aviv

ABOUT TEL AVIV

Tel Aviv celebrated its centennial in 2009, having been founded during the Ottoman Empire's reign in 1909. The first modern Hebrew-speaking city, the name Tel Aviv is derived from the Hebrew word Tel, an archaeological term for an area where the strata of old cities are laid atop of one another, and the word Aviv, which means spring. The name is meant to represent rebirth.

Just south of Tel Aviv is the city of Jaffa - a city whose foundations date farther back than those of Jerusalem, and hosts the oldest operating port in the world. In the early 1900s, a group of Jewish residents chose to leave the city of Jaffa in order to establish a new neighborhood just outside the city's borders. This area became the first neighborhood of Tel Aviv.

With the influx of Jewish immigrants from Europe in 1924-1939, Tel Aviv became Israel's major center of commerce, culture, and arts. In 1950, Tel Aviv and Jaffa merged to form one municipality, known today as Tel Aviv-Yafo.

Tel Aviv and the surrounding areas (known as Gush Dan) comprise approximately 2.5 million citizens, which is about one third of Israel's population. While the actual population within the city's limits is around 350,000, over one million people commute to Tel Aviv each day.

The Tel Aviv of today has maintained its distinction as the cultural and economic hub of the country. The city boasts a plethora of restaurants, beaches, museums, movie theaters, outdoor cafés, markets, boutique shops, bars, and clubs. This combination has attracted the nation's youth and young professional crowd in droves, thus earning the reputation as Israel's city that never sleeps and a major tourist destination along the Mediterranean coast.

BEACHES

Tel Aviv has excellent public beaches with changing rooms, restrooms, and cafés. Beach chairs and umbrellas are available to rent. For more information, please visit: Tel Aviv Beaches.

PUBLIC SPORTS FACILITIES

Park Hayarkon is one of Tel Aviv's largest public park and is within walking distance of the University. There are picnic areas, gardens, a man-made lake, a bicycle path along the Yarkon River, boat rentals (paddle boat, canoe, and kayak), a small children's zoo, and more. Park Hayarkon's Sports Center: Sportek (p: 03-6422828, 03-6990307)

SHOPPING CENTERS

The Ramat Aviv Mall (p: 03-6426612) is a five minute walk from the University's main gate (40 Einstein Street). There are large supermarkets and two levels of shops, restaurants, cafés, and cinemas in the mall.

- Gan Ha'ir, 71 Ibn Gvirol St. (p: 03-5279111)
- Sarona Market, 3 Aluf Kalman Magen (p: 03-6242424)

Tel Aviv has a number of colorful and lively bazaars, or open-air markets, which are open from early morning to early evening, Sundays through Fridays. While it is less customary to bargain on food prices, it is acceptable to try for a discount on clothes and housewares. The word in Hebrew for bazaar, or open-air market, is shuk.

- Shuk Hacarmel: The largest and best market for fresh fruit and vegetables, cheese, meat, Asian and other specialty foods, cleaning supplies, inexpensive clothes, and many other items. Corner of Allenby and King George.
- Nahalat Binyamin: An arts and crafts market held every Tuesday and Friday with live music and entertainment. On the Nahalat Binyamin pedestrian-only street, right off Allenby Street and parallel to Shuk Hacarmel.
- Shuk Bezalel: Discount clothes. Off King George St., very close to the corner of Allenby Street.
- Levinsky Street: A wonderful street market for spices, nuts, dried fruit, etc.
- Flea Market (Shuk Hapishp'shim): Second-hand clothes, furniture, and general household items. Located in Jaffa.
